IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE ANDERSON DEMANDED BY NEW LABOR PARTY FOR INJUNCTION IN COAL STRIKE

MILLION SIGNATURES TO PETITION ARE SOUGHT BEFORE IT IS PRESENTED TO CONGRESS NEXT MONTH.

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Nov. 24.—A demand for impeachment of Judge A. B. Anderson of the United States district court was formally voiced today by the new national labor party in a petition addressed to congress. The jurist's action in granting the government a mandatory injunction ordering rescinding of the coal miners' strike call was the reason assigned for the action. Only one voice in the gathering was raised against the resolution. R. L. Martin, Oklahoma, objected to the procedure as a "waste of time."

"Congress has never paid attention to the demands of labor," he said. "The only way to remedy present conditions is to change control of the government by voting the national labor party into power."

It is planned to have the impeachment petition signed by 1,000,000 members of labor organizations before it is presented to congress next month.

The resolution reads in part: "Your petitioners represent that Judge A. B. Anderson of the United States district court for the district of Indiana has violated his oath of office to preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States; that he has deliberately and fully denied to citizens of the United States their constitutional rights and has violated the limitations upon his authority imposed by the constitution and the statutes of the United States and by the decision of the supreme court of the United States; that he has utilized the power of his office to compel free men to involuntary servitude; that he has substituted his autocratic will for the law; that he has forced 400,000 men to disserve the orders of the court of the United States or else submit to intolerable wrong and to deprivation of inalienable rights—rights which are guaranteed under the constitution of the United States—and that thereby he has brought the courts into disrepute and the law into contempt; that he has compelled every citizen who is faithful to his American citizenship to risk his individual liberty in order that he may maintain the freedom of labor; that he has violated the rights of his fellow citizens that liberty which the United States government was founded to preserve; and for these reasons, your petitioners demand that the United States congress impeach Judge A. B. Anderson; that he may be removed from his office and that the congress of the United States may maintain the constitution and the guarantees of liberty provided in the constitution of the United States."

Swift, Stern Action Asked.
"Your petitioners represent that the swift and stern action by the representatives of the people is necessary. Step by step government by injunction has encroached upon the rights of the workers in this strike. We must deliver the law to the courts where the supreme court announced that the right of labor to work was not challenged; to the order of Judge Anderson commanding that men peacefully refusing to return to work for an unjust cause be sent to prison for making exorbitant profits for private employers. It is a call to a halt upon the oppression of labor through the courts. We will not long suffer under the tyranny or deprivation of natural liberty in whatsoever form without determined resistance."

Warn A. Officers.
"We are peace loving, law abiding Americans who are seeking redress of grievances through the representatives of the people. But we solemnly warn all officers of the law, that if they must cease to deny to us and our brothers fundamental rights of citizenship; that they must cease to invoke the power of the courts to keep us from asserting our rights; that the government of the United States must be maintained as a government securing to all citizens life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."
"There are men of thought and speech alien to the United States who are seeking to use the courts to oppress all men who see only the abuses of American institutions and fail to understand their great uses. Some of these men belong to the labor group and some are capitalists. We are not such men. We seek the aid of our fellow Americans to oppose the councils of such men."
"We submit that treason against the United States should be defined to include the willful violation by any public official of any constitutional right of a citizen."

ALLIES SEND NOTE TO GERMANY ON ENVOYS LEAVING FOR BERLIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Nov. 24.—The supreme council today decided to send the German delegation here a note in reply to the one submitted by the Germans informing the council of the departure for Berlin of the plenipotentiaries sent in connection with the protocol guaranteeing the carrying out of the armistice terms, which Germany has been informed she will have to sign before the peace treaty is put into effect.
The note's contents were not given out.
The council received advice from Sir George Clerk, its representative in the negotiations, that the German delegation would leave Budapest this evening for Paris.
It was announced that the German plenipotentiaries, discussing the question of Danzig would hold meetings in Paris.
The sudden departure of the plenipotentiaries headed by Herr Von Simson, delegated by the German government to sign for Germany the protocol guaranteeing enforcement of the peace treaty and to exchange ratifications of the document, is regarded in American peace delegation circles as having a connection with the news of the adjournment of the United States senate without ratifying the treaty.

The American opinion, however, does not agree with the majority of French criticisms that the Germans are using the failure of the senate to ratify the treaty as a pretext for avoiding fulfillment of the peace terms. It is suggested that the Germans are hesitating because they know that their position in the absence of American members from the commission charged with supervision of execution of the armistice terms, which they are supposed to consider as a counter-poise to the points of view of their former European enemies, is not the strongest.

How to Make Maps
By Herman T. Lukens
Francis W. Parker School.
To learn to use maps you must make maps. Get a large map of your home town and redraw it making every measurement half the length it is in the original. This reduces the size to one fourth. To simplify the measuring draw two straight lines at right angles, one at the left margin and one along the bottom. From these two lines measure out to any point you want to locate. It will be well to test the accuracy of your work as you proceed by measuring from point to point. Get a large map of the United States. With scissors cut it on the state boundary lines. It is great fun to learn to recognize the different states by their shapes and sizes. Also it helps when you come to recite that Geography lesson.

Get some string, some small wooden sticks, and a map of your state. In your back yard or a field stake out your state on a large scale say an inch of a mile. For the scale of your map is fifty miles to the inch. Thus if one boundary line of your state measures four inches on the map, that means that boundary line is 200 miles long. So if you adopt the scale of one mile per inch, when you stake down your string along that boundary line it would be 200 inches or 16 feet 8 inches long. You may have some trouble laying out the curving lines but if you are careful and frequently measure between different points already laid out and compare your measurements with the distances between the same points on your map you will not go far wrong.

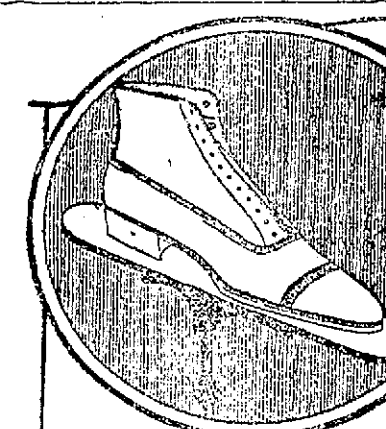

Ask your teacher where to get a large blank outline map of the United States. Get pictures from other states of the United States and paste them on the back, locate on the map where they come from, and write the number at that point. This will help you to get an idea of what the different parts of the country look like. (Next week: "How to Use a Dictionary.")

A Cocoon Hunt

By Adella Belle Beard
You do not carry a gun or game bag on this hunt, nor do you bother with a camera. All you need is a pair of keen eyes to find your game and a box or paper bag in which to bring home your specimens. They must not be crushed or tightly packed, therefore your pocket is not a good place for them.

The cocoons should be in the best of condition at this time of the year. You will find them in the woods, clinging to branches of shrubs in marshy places and along the roadside; plastered on board fences and sometimes in hollow logs. Even on our city trees you may come across these little brown bags that hold the small, sleeping things which in early summer, will emerge gorgeous winged creatures.

The Cecropia Moth—remember the name—which is one of the largest and handsomest of all our moths, uses for blankets only the silk spun from its own body. You may know the Cecropia cocoon—it is quite large—by its being lashed its whole length to whatever supports it—often to a twig of a Maple or other large shade tree—and by its outer coating which looks as if made of dry brown paper.

The cocoon of the beautiful, pale-green Luna Moth though increased in two or three leaves does not fasten itself, as some others do, to the twig, but when the leaves loosen and fall it drops with them to the ground. It is almost oval in shape, about two inches long and is usually found under large trees like the oak, walnut or hickory.

The cocoon hanging by a few silken threads from a twig of the Willow tree, will probably be that of the splendid Polyphemus Moth (you can remember that name too) which has little window-like spots on its wings, clear and transparent as glass.

Do not pull the cocoons off their twigs, take two and fasten them in a vase in a safe place where they will have light and air, then early in June watch for the moths to come out. It is a wonderful sight.

NURSE MAKES FACTS PUBLIC

Was Told Operation Was Her Only Hope—"Tanlac Is Wonderful," She Says.

"Speaking from personal experience," said Mrs. D. L. Travis, a well known nurse, residing at 721 Seventh Ave., Peoria, Ill., in a conversation, recently, with the writer, to be a most valuable medicine and I feel it my duty to give the facts to the world.

Mrs. Travis is only one of a great many in her profession who have endorsed Tanlac. She has been nursing the sick for eighteen years and her statement, coming, as it does, from one of such wide experience, will be read with interest everywhere.

"It is my honest belief," continued Mrs. Travis, "that there are millions of people who, if they only knew Tanlac as I do since using it myself, would lose no time in relieving themselves of their misery as I have done."

"The way I happened to know of Tanlac was through a noted physician. At this time I was suffering from what was said to be chronic appendicitis, which had troubled me for seven or eight years. I would become so nauseated—almost deathly sick—after eating that it was a common thing for me not to be able to retain my food. I am speaking now of the last stage of my suffering, after reaching the condition where an operation seemed unavoidable. But, previous to this time and for several years my health had been very poor and it was an effort for me to stay on my feet and practice my profession. I did it under the strain of suffering and when I came off from a case I was always so completely tired out, exhausted, and nervous that I thought each case would be the last.

"Finally, few months ago, I gave up completely, took to my bed and arrangements were being made for an operation, as it was thought I would never recover without it. At this point my physician and friend advised me to try Tanlac for a few days. Knowing he would not advise me wrong I ordered a bottle at once and two days later my sufferings were letting up. Those terrible pains began to leave, the swelling and bloating commenced to go down and in a day or two more I changed from liquid diet to some more nourishing and substantial food. From that time on I recovered in a way that was actually astonishing to those who attended me. In all I have taken about seven bottles of this medicine and today I am as well as one can be. My lost strength has returned, my nerves are perfectly calm and no one could get more restful sleep than I do. My appetite is fine. I enjoy all my meals and I never suffer in the slightest degree with my stomach or in any other way. Nothing would keep me from praising this wonderful medicine."

American Legion

By donating the use of the City Council Chamber at City Hall to the American Legion for use as a meeting hall, Mayor Thomas B. Welsh, acting for the council, has stamped the city's wholehearted approval and cooperation on the post and its purposes. The use of the chamber by the legion will provide an excellent meeting place for the coming winter. The next meeting will be held there on December 2.

Heretofore the local post has held its meetings at the armory, but, while that is an excellent place to congregate when the weather is comfortable, the lack of heating facilities makes it cold during the winter.

Of interest to legion members and ex-service men is the advice on compensation issued by Congressman Clifford E. Randall of this district. It is in town today giving hearings to interested people on matters of public concern. He says that the act creating the Bureau of War Risk Insurance may be of help to those who are in the line of duty, as well as insurance. It is important for service men to know that under the law providing for the payment of compensation in order to be eligible for compensation for disability which may occur in the future as the result of disease or injury incurred in active service in the line of duty, every service man must within a year from leaving the service obtain a certificate from the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

A certificate stating that at the time of discharge or resignation from the service he was suffering from a disability likely to result in death or disability.

The certificate registers the fact that he was sick or injured in the service, and that he is now suffering from a disability likely to result in death or disability.

These are only a few things such as the local post of the legion will keep its members posted on. Join the post by signing the following blank card and mailing it with $2 to J. H. Hemming, post finance officer, 176 Lincoln street, Janesville, Wis., and get the full measure of service men through the organization.

RED CROSS SEAL SALE OPENS THURSDAY

Wisconsin, in common with other states, will launch on Thanksgiving day the annual sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals which will continue until December 25, under the direction of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

The state association represents the organized voluntary effort to drive tuberculosis from Wisconsin. It is waging a campaign to better health conditions for every man, woman and child in the state.

During the war some 2,900 Wisconsin men were excluded from military service because of tuberculosis, convincing proof of the prevalence of tuberculosis. There are many tuberculous women of the same age in the state.

To prevent the little children from being equally victimized by the time they reach manhood and womanhood, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association is conducting a public health program in which every

Take a Winter Trip Through Summer seas to Hawaii

Picture a perfect May day—multiply it by 365—that's the year in Hawaii, the Island Paradise of the Pacific. Add tropical forests where grow the coconut and royal palm, the banyan and the hau, and strange flowers of many hues. From coral islands thus carpeted, rise volcanic mountains two miles skyward right out of the sea. Here are spectacular volcanoes—the ever-glowing ruby of fiery Kilauea and the largest of earth's craters, Haleakala—easily accessible to the very brink. These areas are in the Hawaiian National Park, established by the United States Government. Waikiki Beach offers water surf-bathing in sunny waters. Honolulu, the capital of the islands, is a modern city, in the midst of a native civilization centuries old. All at the end of a trippy land and sea unique in all the world. After seeing California, you board luxurious steamer at San Francisco, and are at Honolulu in about a week, after a delightful cruise. The Gazette Stands Ready to Support all Endeavor to Make Janesville and Vicinity a Better Community.

WHERE WAS THE AMBULANCE?

Saturday, shortly before midnight, a man was struck by a fast moving railway train on the Northwestern road, near the Five Points. He lay bleeding and broken for several minutes—some witnesses say at least 45, others 25—before he was taken to Mercy hospital. The city recently bought a combination patrol and ambulance at a cost of about $5,000 to be used in just such emergencies. The first time the demand is made the ambulance cannot be used. It was stored in a local garage, five blocks from the police station. The garage was locked. It is evident that the night captain at the police station had no one at hand to drive the car. The city did not meet the demands of the emergency. The victim of the accident did not receive proper attention because of the lack of efficiency in handling the case. Perhaps the man would have died even though he had been taken to the hospital without delay. That is not the question.

What is going to be the method employed in the future in handling such cases? We are going to have more of them as the city changes from one stage of development along industrial lines to another. The city pays $500 a year for the use of a ward at the hospital for emergency cases. That ward should be available at all times for city cases so that anyone, no matter who he is, can be taken there for quick treatment. The ambulance should be ready at a minute's notice, day or night to respond to calls. That is what it is purchased for and that is what it should be used for. If the police department is not equipped to handle such cases, the city council should take steps to provide such equipment at once.

We understand that the ambulance has been kept in the private garage five blocks from the police station because the work of preparing the old barn next to the city hall for it is not completed. There is no fault to find with the arrangement under those circumstances, but the public has a right to find fault with the lack of service given Saturday night. With the ambulance so far removed from the police department's base of operations, special effort should have been made to provide for quick handling of calls, even if a special man was necessary to stay at the garage.

That the public is interested is indicated by a railroad employee who witnessed the accident, Saturday night, and in discussing the matter with this paper said: "I am interested in the service the city gives in such cases because some time I may be the fellow under the wheels and I do not care to lie for 45 minutes waiting for the city to send an ambulance to get me to a hospital where I might have a chance for my life."

LET WOMEN VOTE NEXT YEAR.

An officer of the National Women's party declares that whether women of the United States are enfranchised in time for the presidential election of 1920 depends upon five western states, in all of which suffrage is unrestricted by sex. If the governors of Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Wyoming and Oklahoma will call special legislative sessions to ratify the constitutional amendment, there are enough other states ready to take similar action to assure approval by the requisite 35 within a few months, it is declared.

The situation demands that suffrage organizations unite for strong action to arouse the sleeping West to its responsibility. The great issues before the nation today, and certain to be before the electorate in 1920, demand the widest possible public expression. As it is, women will vote for presidential electors in 27 states; but they should be assured the same right in the other 21. Equal franchise is inevitable; at most it is but a matter of months. It would be monstrous for the women of the east to be denied the right to vote next year because of the unconcern of the women of the west who have that right.

Already the federal amendment has been ratified by 19 states, representing more than 63,000,000 people. Seventeen states, representing perhaps 25,000,000 people, are all that stand between the American woman and franchise. Women are entitled to the vote, not in some hazy, inconsequential future—but now, for 1920.

THE WORLD IMPROVES.

Hospitals, day nurseries, charitable institutions formerly were merely the offspring of the rich or the church benefactors. Today they are a part of the civilized community.

The poor, the crippled, the sick were formerly tolerated. Today they are assisted to provide for themselves. It is a step in the right direction.

The city of Cleveland has launched a movement to provide a fund of over three millions of dollars in order to provide for the needy, the crippled, the charitable institutions.

It is planned to search out the poor who are crippled, to provide free operations for these people so that they may become self-supporting.

Poor houses were places for cripples in the past. Now charity will provide operations and endeavor to do away with poor houses. Teaching and helping people to provide for themselves and become self-supporting will in the end save the country many millions of dollars, besides improving the race, and adding years of sunshine to lives now deep in despair and darkness.

Charity now consists of helping people help themselves. It is a most self-respecting charity. It is not the giving of alms. It is an investment. The country will reap many times what is sown. It is applied Christianity.

A PLEBEIAN PRINCE

And so King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, of Rumania, are in tears because Prince Charles prefers his pretty young wife to the shaky old throne of his forefathers!

Isn't it sad that a son should behave so badly? Doesn't Charles know that his father and mother didn't raise their son to be a decent married man? Doesn't he know it is much more important that he marry somebody he doesn't love and wear a crown than to marry the girl of his heart and settle down to the earning of a real, honest-to-goodness livelihood?

We fear Charles' education must have been sadly neglected. Maybe during the hectic days of the war he met up with a parcel of those low-born American doughboys who behaved so rudely in Europe recently and became contaminated with their plebeian ideas about love and marriage.

And to think he would disgrace his family by saying "right out before everybody that he prefers his wife to riches" and would sooner be happy than be king!

What's the royalty of Europe coming to, anyway?

First thing we know this incorrigible youth will be

THE AMERICAN WORKINGMAN.

I don't believe the workingman is mad with lust and don't believe the men I meet have banished justice from their creed. I know the toiler at his bench, I know the printer at his press, And they are men who hold The Flag above material success.

I do not fear the feet of those who march to work from day to day Will follow men who deal in hate and miss the broad and open way. I have no fear that doctrines vile expounded by an alien breed Will lure one real American to utter any vicious creed.

I know the workingman today; I know that he would sooner die Than see the flag which shelters him in shame come fluttering from the sky. And this also I know of him: that he would quickly strike to earth The man who dares to raise his voice against the country of his birth.

I know the toiler in his home; I've seen his wife and children smile. I've seen them happy and content with all the joys that are worth while; And I refuse today to think that such a man would ever heed The mouthings of an alien few or do one treasonable deed.

actually working for a living and may be sending his children to the public schools. It would seem he is really just such an impossible person.

PREPARE INCOME STATEMENTS NOW.

Announcement by the treasury department that income tax blanks will soon be mailed to all who made returns in 1919 is a hint to citizens to put their house in order for the 1920 report. The confusion which overwhelmed the average man last winter as he vainly endeavored to recall the details of the moneys he had received during the year should not be repeated. By starting now to keep a rigid tabulation of income and outgo, and by reviewing now the months already passed, every man can make compilation of his tax statement a comparatively simple matter.

If the income tax has benefited the people of the United States in one way more than another, it is in compelling millions to keep a tally on their finances. Undoubtedly, more families are today "keeping books" around the family table than ever. It is a good habit, and makes for thrift.

The Public Ownership league wants the railroads and wire services made a branch of the postoffice department. That sure would tie up the country.

They gave 87 Reds a bath and a shave in New York the other day before departing there. Must have been like plutocratic highbrows.

Who shall decide when judges disagree as to the constitutionality of the wartime prohibition law?

Their Opinions

There is a fine stew on boil on account of the charges made by two ousted civil service commissioners against the postoffice authorities. The postoffice people assert their vigilance in enforcing the rules, before the inquiring house committee. It is dollars to doughnuts that this civil service business is being enforced by the democratic administration on the principle of "heads you lose and tails we win."—Racine Journal News.

Theodore Roosevelt's doctrine and policies will govern the republican party's dealing with industrial problems, says Chairman Hays of the Republican National committee. But Roosevelt living could not get a hearing for his policies from Mr. Hays and other "stand-patters."—Sheboygan Press.

Washington, Nov. 24.—All the world is in need of sweetening. All over the world men are trying to discover new ways of producing that sensation on the tongue which we know as sweetness, and to which we have all become addicted through the habitual use of sugar.

This need of sweetening opens up vast possibilities of fraud. It is important that you should know the truth about sugar and sugar substitutes. Sugar is primarily a valuable and necessary food. It is a carbohydrate. The carbohydrates are converted into energy more quickly than anything else you can put into your body. That is why candy warms you so quickly in cold weather, why you crave sweet things when you are tired and when you are doing hard physical work.

Sugar is Sweet. That is, what we call sugar is sweet. But not all that is sugar is sweet, and not all that is sweet is sugar. The sugars are a large group of substances, numbering several dozen, all of which are made of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen, and all of which have some of the same food value. Most of them are more or less sweet, but not all of them. Lactose, or milk sugar, is hardly sweet at all. Maltose and glucose are rather sweet. The sweetest of them all is sucrose, which is found in sugar cane and in the sugar beet, and is the common sugar of commerce.

A few generations ago, sucrose in the form of dry white granulated sugar was unknown. People had maple syrup, molasses, sorghum syrup, and other sugars in the syrup form, but the process of crystallizing and refining sugar had not been invented.

With the invention of this process, the use of sugar, that is of crystallized sucrose, became general. We began putting a spoonful of sugar on this and into that. All cereals, most fruits raw and cooked, all hot drinks, and many other things must have sugar sprinkled over or dissolved in them. If it is not used, we miss the taste of sweetness.

This sugar has nothing to do with the food value of sugar, since many substances that are not sweet have the same food value. Sweetness is merely a sensation, and sweetness does not know how it is produced. It is a mystery.

Addicted to Sweetness. But we have become addicted to this taste of sweetness. Many people, knowing little about the food value of sugar, think of it as a condiment, like pepper. They think they are using it almost exclusively for its taste.

The physical sensation known as sweetness may be produced by other substances than sugar, or glucose, for example. Some people, but we cannot eat glycine. A drug known as sodium benzoate is also sweet—many times as sweet as sugar. It is made from coal tar. This drug is the one commonly known as saccharin.

The question of saccharin is a delicate one just at present. Since it is being manufactured and sold quite extensively in this country, its manufacturers claim, and rightly, that it is a very efficient sweetener. They do not claim that it has any food value. They do claim that it is harmless in the quantities in which it is necessary to use it for sweetening food. Therefore they say, it is a logical substitute for sugar. These manufacturers have advertised extensively, and have conducted the fight for their product with great frankness and intelligence.

Opposes Use of Saccharin. The bureau of chemistry department of Agriculture, has taken a stand opposed to the use of saccharin. It now has a case pending against the manufacturers of saccharin which is to come to trial next month. But the bureau cannot prevent the manufacture and sale of saccharin. It can only prevent its sale under misleading names, or with misleading statements on the package, either pure or in manufactured products. The question whether saccharin is to be used, therefore, is really up to the public, and publicity is the effective weapon of the bureau in the controversy as to its merits.

The manufacturers of saccharin claim that the drug is harmless. The department of Agriculture claims that it is harmful. Where lies the truth? Some years ago the government brought suit against makers of saccharin products, and a referee board was appointed to decide whether saccharin was harmless, or with misleading statements on the package, either pure or in manufactured products. The question whether saccharin is to be used, therefore, is really up to the public, and publicity is the effective weapon of the bureau in the controversy as to its merits.

We are pained to note that 47 children of a Lithuanian, who at Metchin, are rioting in the courts over his estate. We are not at all pessimistic regarding the cost of living and we do not wish to try to discourage any one who has a fondness for large families, but we cannot for the life of us see how any man who brought up 47 children could leave an estate worth fighting for.

PERSONETTE

HONEY FITZ
Alias John Francis Fitzgerald, erstwhile mayor of Boston, is round and rosy of face, and cheerfully musical of soul. Far more than for his political prowess he is known for his masterly singing of that touching ballad, "Sweet Adeline." He sings it earnestly, and his face grows redder and rounder as he sings. He sings it often, and if he does not do so voluntarily he does so by request. It is hard to say which owes most fame to the other, Adeline to Honey Fitz or vice versa. Probably the most spectacular moment of his career was 10 years ago when Boston won the pennant, and Honey Fitz, reaching the zenith of his roundness and redness, and emotional abandon, led 10,000 rejoicing Bostonians in song. Needless to say the words which soared heavenward melodiously from the Boston throats concerned Sweet Adeline. Recently our national capital was gladdened for six months by Mr. Fitzgerald's presence. It is expected to be gladdened longer than that, for he had come as a member of the house, but there was a recounting of the vote and as a result he was mysteriously snatched back to Boston. But, though the grim hand of fate may snatch Honey Fitz here and there, it will never silence him, chubbiness, frosted feet, colds of the chest. Always dependable.

WHO'S WHO in the Day's News

THOMAS ALVA EDISON.
Thomas Alva Edison, the telephone transmitter, the incandescent light, and many other conveniences of civilization, is still new at the standard in Orange, N. J. He is 72 years young, and on Feb. 11 next will be 73. He is not as youthful as he was when he came into this world in 1847 out at Milan, Ohio, but he is as full of undying energy as he always was. The public last heard of him in connection with his reaction with his work in the including of concrete houses or rather the pouring of them, as he calls it. He is now laboring about 17 hours each day in his several laboratories at West Orange, physically, chemically and electrically. Sometimes he goes to bed early, say 5 o'clock in the morning, but as he advances in years he needs a little more sleep, and does not take to his couch at as early an hour in the morning as he did. Mr. Edison takes some exercise, principally in walking about the plant, and he does not hurt him any. He eats lightly, as he thinks all men of mature age should bolt his meals deftly and not waste any time which might be given to work.

Thomas A. Edison, beyond the appointed span of life, and at a time when it is said that the days of man are full of trouble and the grinders cease because they are few, is eagerly at his self-appointed tasks. In vain could the world say to such a center of force as this that his day is done, and that it's time for him to retire in favor of more youthful inventors. Young experts around those Orange laboratories have to be very careful about getting plenty of rest and having their vacations regularly so that they can keep up with the processes of this perennial intellect.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married several years. About a year ago I discovered my husband had been untrue. I wanted a separation from him, but he would not consent and I still lived with him.

A few months ago I met a man I have since learned to love. I do not think my husband cares for me and this other man does. Should I leave my husband and try to be happy with the other man? Of course I would insist on an immediate divorce and would not see the man I love until I had a legal right.

If you have lost the girl, try not to grieve. Surely it is better to know before marriage than after that she does not love you.

There may be some good reason why she is not writing. I would advise you to write to her asking her to be very frank about her regard for you. Tell her if she no longer loves you, you want her to tell you the truth.

You are only a young man and will recover from this disappointment, I assure you.

Please advise me what to do.

DOT.

If you have a divorce at once and marry the other man, there is great danger that you will regret the more. I would advise you to wait until you have known the other man a year. If, at the end of that time, you love him as much as you do now, the change would seem more reasonable. Most women who change their husbands hastily find that the second marriage is not any more satisfactory than the first. In case you have decided to leave your husband, your duty is to your children, and, if their own father is good to them and to you, you should leave him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy 21 years old and have been keeping company with a girl almost a year. We have been engaged to her about four months. I left home and came here about two months ago and was to go back after her. Now she has quit writing to me, although I have written her three or four times. I haven't heard from her in three weeks.

I love her more than I could ever love another girl and she has often told me that she loved me. Please advise me what to do, as I am deeply troubled.

WOMAN.

There are good acts in this world that would seem folly sometimes to me. For instance, if a boy in his place, standing at the head of his class, should become ill from too much overwork, how would he feel?

INTERESTED READER.

The law to which you refer governs children who have not graduated from grammar school. When a child has passed through the elementary school the law does not require further education.

Your girl about the boy's health is good. I stand corrected and realize that I neglected a matter of importance in not cautioning him to consider his health first in order to be of greatest help to his family.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

"Ann, dear," said Jim today, "mother wants to do some shopping this morning and go to the matinee. I told her I knew you'd be only too glad to show her about a bit." (It is one of Jim's peculiarities never to speak of his work as anything that needs serious attention. His way of eliminating an evil is to ignore it.)

My fur bristled, as it always does when Jim takes a certain tone—a tone which says "mother was sort of afraid to ask for herself; you seem so busy and preoccupied, and so strong-minded, while she is so gentle."

Just as soon as I can get these attended to," I replied, pointing to a fat pile of letters the boy had just brought up from the "Messenger" office.

"But surely these can wait? The magazine would let you off for a day or so if you asked them?"

"Listen, Jim. Let's try to understand each other about this work of mine. If you employed a stenographer you would pay her for being dependable as well as for being efficient, wouldn't you? Well, this work I do for the 'Messenger' is just as important to them and to me as a stenographer's work is, even though I do mine at home. If I were ill, or something imperative called me away I should arrange to have some one else attend to these letters. Otherwise I cannot neglect them."

"That plainly means that you do not consider it important to spend a little time to make mother's visit pleasant," said Jim.

"I am more than willing to make her visit pleasant, but I must do it like any other business woman, in time that can be spared from my employment. I can hurry through my work in time to take her to the matinee, but I can't go shopping this morning. Jim, Athena will be glad to go with your mother and we can all meet afterward at the theatre."

Jim laughed a short, mirthless, unpleasant laugh. "Oh, no!" he almost sneered. "I don't think mother would quite see Athena—and I'm afraid she wouldn't. If you are too busy to take her, she can amuse herself about the house. She expressly said she didn't want to be a trouble to anyone."

Oh, that martyr voice of Jim's! Oh, that tone of injured righteousness! I suppose I am a fiend and a virago and an unwomanly woman, but I could swear when Jim springs that tone on me.

"That's what people always say when they usurp your time—that they don't want to trouble you, or interrupt, or put you back in the least!" I cried naughtily. "My friends know I am trying to get a foothold with the 'Messenger' and leave me alone mornings. But you have always treated my work as if it were my plaything, a mere silly little pastime that I could give up whenever I chose to do anything else. I tell you, Jim, I am in earnest. I have been complimented by Mr. Lynch, and he has even suggested

THE DANGER OF BEING ALIVE (11)

Our Friends

Typhoid fever, the public health authorities assure us, is a fifth disease. Every individual who contracts typhoid fever has in some manner taken into the alimentary tract some of the filth from one who has had the disease. Often there is a journey of 20 or 30 miles down a river from the place where the filth or sewage enters the river to the place where the diluted sewage is pumped into the municipal water supply system. Or maybe a friendly fly serves as carrier. Or some oysters grown in polluted water. Or the milk contaminated by the milkman's filth or that of some recent typhoid patient in his household. Typhoid epidemics are therefore disseminated by a community for they imply a common disregard of filthy conditions.

Every so-called "cold" or other respiratory infection is due to a transfer of excretia to give it a polite name, from the nose or throat of one person to the nose or throat of another. Cautiously, someone expects to avoid this by blowing his nose accurately, and then you come down with a "cold" of one kind or another.

Unfortunately, as the germs carried into the droplets (invisible droplets as a rule) of sputum from your friend the person with the slight "cold" and a recent sufferer with a respiratory infection, begin to multiply and invade your tissues from your nose or throat, you are likely to feel chilly if not frank chilly. Then you realize, as you fondly imagine, that you are "taking cold," and you proceed to warm up with a view toward preventing "exposure." Meanwhile the germs get in good, obtain a footing in your tissues, then you feel warm enough, perhaps you react to the invasion with fever.

Respiratory infection is a term I have used twice in this brief talk. It includes every disease known to be conveyed by the transfer of spit from one person to another, and these are the important diseases so transmitted.

Coryza (ordinary so-called "cold in the head"), tonsillitis, quinsy, acute bronchitis, pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria, tuberculosis, meningitis, scarlet fever, whooping cough, cerebro-spinal meningitis, infantile paralysis, and probably mumps, chickenpox and smallpox.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Articular History.

Can articular rheumatism of two my writing a little story each day for the magazine page. I think your mother might try and understand my ambition, even if she doesn't approve, and be reasonable about it.

Jim must have been very angry, for he took up his hat and went out without another word. To my shame be it said I flung myself upon my bed and howled.

Mother Salsbery came in from the kitchen, patting my back and said: "There, there, Ann, you mustn't excite yourself so. Don't you see what your work is doing for you? It's understanding your nerves. I really agree with Jim that you ought to give it up for your own sake."

Which was the last straw.

EVERYMAN'S DIARY
The man next to me ordered a steak, small, with onions. When it came it was small, all right. But awful tough for its size. He pulled it and pushed it. And swore at it. Then he called the waiter and asked him to bring him a safety-razor blade or a pair of scissors. And made other cutting remarks. Just as though the waiter was to blame. And then he talked about the steak to everybody in general. And then he ate it. All.

I didn't blame him for getting sore. It certainly was tough. But what pained me about it was that he went back to his office. And wrote an article. That I read in the paper the next day in defense of the Packers.

If the Prince of Wales is every inch a king, ex-Serjt. SOL says they must have cut down the linear measure since twelve of them made a royal foot.

ENTER A LADY

Dear Buck:
I think it is perfectly terrible the way you keep writing about the army and the French. Mademoiselles and everything, and never say a word about the American girls.
In the first place your idea is all wrong about our boys in France. They didn't care anything about the French girls at all and I can prove it because I used to be proposed to every day by boys who were just going to be transferred or had their embarkation orders. In fact the only way I could have any peace was to wear a gold-bar in my necktie.
And I think you are horrid to the poor shavetails, too, for I found quite a lot that were almost human. I liked to go out with them because I had to pay for my own meals but it was cheaper in the end because they didn't borrow so much of my money as the officers did.
Now you better print this or I'll know it's because you are jealous.

FROM OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENT
Paris, November 23.—A small-change crisis has hit the French capital, small coins are out of circulation and life in the cafes is becoming paralyzed. A tragic example was noted recently when a number of stranded Yanks were paralyzed trying to drink up a hundred franc note for fear of losing their change.

RIOT THREATENED AT BELOIT-PACKERS GAME; BELOIT WINS

An off-side played called by the head linesman on a Green Bay player, or just as the Packers shoved across a yard line and tied the score, gave one of the most hotly contested football games ever seen in this vicinity to Beloit at Fairbanks-Morse Field yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. Cries of derision were heard all over the side-lines from the spectators when the penalty was called. For a time, with the 4,000 spectators surging over the field toward the two teams and the referee, it appeared that a riot would be in progress, but the players of both teams forced the crowd back.

The Green Bay players had plunged the ball by a series of line punches through the Beloit line, gradually worked it down the field until they reached their own five-yard line. Beloit then stiffened, threw up a stone wall, and fought back, but though they were heavier than the Bay boys, Beloit couldn't hold. Foot by foot, Green Bay pushed onward until they shoved the ball over the line. The joy of the Packers and their rooters was soon dampened, however, when the linesman ran onto the field to inform the referee that a Green Bay man had been offside. With the ball taken back, Green Bay tried some running, but it was forced into a criss-cross sprint and then the referee penalized the visitors again. This time for an out-of-bounds play. A beefing match then followed with the referee and the captain of the Green Bay team, who was chewing the fat over the rule book, and the discovery that the referee was using a 1918 set of rules.

Beloit made its points in the end of the second quarter, when after the ball had successfully been carried from one sector to the other, neither team seeming to have any advantage over the other, Beloit kicked the ball to the 20-yard line. Then began a series of pushes, by which the shrewdly observed visitors and the Packers endeavored to hold; they made the line city men fight for every gain; but with 50 seconds to go, Scheibel, the Green Bay quarterback, was chewing the fat over the rule book, and the discovery that the ball not rising more than two feet from the ground.

The balance of the game was like the first period, constant harrrying from one territory to the other, neither team seeming to have much advantage over the other. The advantage, however, seemed to be with the Green Bay boys, who managed to get more chances at their goal, and especially in the third period kept the ball almost entirely within their own land.

It was rumored after the game that the Green Bay Packers offered to play Beloit again on a neutral field for a side-bet of $5,000, and would get Walter Eckersall, the famous football authority, to referee the game. About $5,000 was up in bets on the results of yesterday's game, and many Green Bay backers lost.

One hundred Janesville fans traveled to the game.

SCHWEGLER AND NOTT LEAD LOCAL RIFLE MEN AS HIGH SHOTS

With Dr. Emil Schwegler and Albert Nott shooting almost sit for shot and piling up the same number of points and bulls-eyes, the first annual match of the Janesville Rifle club was held at the armory yesterday afternoon. Forty-one men were entered in the contest, each with 20 shots for a possible 200 points.

Dr. Schwegler was given first prize in the individual score, though he was tied with Nott, each having 192 points. The decision was made according to the rules of the National Rifle association, which says that the man in a tie who made the poorest of the 20 shots shall take second place. In the same manner Nott was given the prize for the greatest number of bulls-eyes because, though he and Schwegler both had 14, his were better.

Bronze medals were given for the first three in the individuals.

In the team match between the club team and a team composed of Company G, state guard majors, the club won with a total of 819 points against the guardsmen's 893. The losing team paid for one of Mulligan's famous chicken dinners.

As a result of yesterday's match, it is expected that within the near future a team of five men will shoot against Milton and other nearby places which have good teams. The rifle club is backed by the war department in an endeavor to train expert shots using army guns.

A vote of thanks was given the business men of the city, who helped make this first match a success.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Final ranking of the teams in the western conference football race gives Illinois, triumphant over Ohio State in the spectacular 9 to 7 game on Saturday, undisputed claim to the 1919 gridiron championship of the "big ten."

The scrappy Illinois eleven victorious in six of its seven games, finished the season with a percentage of .887, while Ohio piled up in second place with a percentage of .750. The Ohioans bagged three out of four games, losing only one contest to Illinois. The Buckeyes scored victories over Purdue, Michigan and Wisconsin, while Illinois emerged victorious in its games with Purdue, Iowa, Minnesota, Chicago, Michigan and Ohio, suffering defeat at the hands of Wisconsin earlier in the season.

The final games marked the passing of some brilliant stars. Chick Harley, all-American halfback, played his last contest for Ohio, which Chicago lost seven men. They are Capt. Higgins, Graham, Hutchinson, Hinkle, McDonald and Stegeman, Meyers, Capt. Carpenter, and Fladsohn, finished their intercollegiate careers at Wisconsin.

AMES WINS BIG TEN CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Ames university took first place Saturday in the annual Western conference cross-country run, held at Ohio State university prior to the Ohio State-Illinois football game. Ames had a total of 38 points. The other teams finished as follows: Wisconsin, second; Purdue, third; Minnesota, fourth; Ohio State, fifth; Michigan, sixth; Illinois, seventh; Chicago, eighth; Oberlin, ninth, and Cincinnati, tenth.

G. L. Otis, Chicago, finished first in the five mile run in 27 minutes 4 1/2 seconds. G. C. Parnas of Purdue, was second, and H. F. and W. E. Prevart of Ames, third and fourth.

DAVEY'S WONDERFUL 62-YARD RUN WINS WISCONSIN'S GAME

Quarterback Allan Davey of the Badgers won the big game between Chicago and Wisconsin Saturday. The two teams had fought almost to the last minute with the score 3 to 3, when the little Madison man pulled off a spectacular 62-yard run and made a touchdown, sending the score 10 to 3 in Wisconsin's favor.

The great dash followed a punt by Chicago. Davey, a last-minute substitute, caught the ball on his 38-yard line. Then escaping the clutches of two tacklers, he got away from a third Maroon and sprinted for the right end. A hastily thrown defense by Chicago availed nothing. Davey broke loose with only one man—Higgins, captain of the Maroons—between him and the goal. Higgins lunged, but missed, and Davey went over. Jacob kicked goal.

FLETCHER STARS FOR ILLINOIS IN DEFEAT OF OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Bobbie Fletcher, Illinois' heady quarterback, has never been known as a place kicker, that fame being reserved for his brother Ralph. But with his brother crippled on the side lines, Fletcher leading 7-6, he rose to the emergency and sent the ball between the posts for a score that spelled victory and a conference championship for Illinois, 9 to 7.

The black-haired lad from Morris, Ill., turned the trick in the nick of time, for there was just time for one kickoff and one play by the dazed Buckeyes before the most thrilling battle of the year came to an end. Alongside of the quarterback the Illini will ensnare "Dutch" Sternaman, veteran halfback, whose valet-distry to college football was most brilliant.

Sternaman Scores Touchdown.
It was not the highly touted Harley, idol of Buckeyedom, who made the longest run of the day, but the two-headed boy from the capital of Illinois. Sternaman in the first period broke through the Buckeye line on a masterful off tackle drive, sped the Scarlet and Gray for a touchdown. Sternaman ran half the length of the field.

Laurels also must be twined for such men as Laurie Walquist, whose clever forward passing in the closing minutes set in motion the most sensational comeback. And Charlie Carney, who got most of the passes, must be mentioned.

For the Illini, to all indications, were benten. They had missed their first goal after Sternaman's touchdown. Thus in the third period when the Buckeyes came in with a new drive, Charlie Harley performed his best stunt of the day. The Ohio leader, when three runs at the stout Illini wall had failed, heaved a long pass to MacDonald on the Orange and Blue two-footline. MacDonald juggled but reclaimed the oval and Dalton's all-star aggregation of artists have been booked for the night of December 6 here. Meantime preparations for next Saturday's game with the Laf-A-Lot quintet of Pond du Lac are going forward. Both teams are itching to get the season under way, the Laf-A-Lots ready to take a fall out of the locals in last year's Amateur Athletic tournament. Much interest is being displayed in the game and all indications are that there will be a crowd large enough to more than fill the hall.

FLETCHER STARS FOR ILLINOIS IN DEFEAT OF OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Bobbie Fletcher, Illinois' heady quarterback, has never been known as a place kicker, that fame being reserved for his brother Ralph. But with his brother crippled on the side lines, less than a minute to play and Ohio State leading, 7-6, he rose to the emergency and sent the ball between the posts for a score that spelled victory and a conference championship for Illinois, 9 to 7.

The black-haired lad from Morris, Ill., turned the trick in the nick of time, for there was just time for a kickoff and one play by the dazed Buckeyes before the most thrilling battle of the year came to an end.

Alongside of the quarterback the Illini will enshrine "Dutch" Sternaman, veteran halfback, whose valiant drive to college football was most brilliant.

Sternaman Scores Touchdown. It was not the lightly touted Harley, idol of Buckeyeedom, who made the longest run of the day, but the tow-headed boy from the capital of Illinois. Sternaman in the first period broke through the Buckeye line on a masterful of tackle drive, sped to the Scarlet and Gray for a touchdown. Sternaman ran half the length of the field.

Laurels also must be twined for such men as Laurie Walquist, whose clever forward passing in the closing minutes set in motion the most sensational comeback. And Charlie Carney, who got most of the passes, must be mentioned.

For the Illini, to all indications, were beaten. They had missed their try goal after Sternaman's touchdown. Then in the third period when the Buckeyes came in with a new drive Chic Harley performed his best stunt of the day. The Ohio leader, when three runs at the stout Illinois wall had failed, heaved a long pass to MacDonald on the Orange and Blue two-footline. MacDonald juggled but reclaimed the oval and

Quarterback Allan Davey of the Badgers won the big game between Chicago and Wisconsin Saturday. The two teams had fought almost to the last minute with the score 3 to 3, when the little Madison man pulled off a spectacular 62-yard run and made a touchdown, sending the score 10 to 3 in Wisconsin's favor.

The great dash followed a punt by Chicago. Davey, a last minute substitute, caught the ball on his 28-yard line. Then escaping the clutches of two tacklers, he got away from a third Maroon and sprinted for the right end. A hastily thrown defense by Chicago availed nothing. Davey broke loose with only one man—Higgins, captain of the Maroons—between him and the goal. Higgins lunged, but missed, and Davey went over. Jacob kicked goal.

SCHWEGLER AND NOTT LEAD LOCAL RIFLE MEN AS HIGH SHOTS

With Dr. Emil Schwegler and Albert Nott shooting almost shot for shot and piling up the same number of points and bull-eyes, the first annual match of the Janesville Rifle club was held at the armory yesterday afternoon. Forty-one men were entered in the contest, each with 20 shots for a possible 200 points.

Dr. Schwegler was given first prize in the individual scores, though he was tied with Nott, each having 152 points. The decision was made according to the rules of the National Rifle association, which says that the man in a tie who made the poorest of the 20 shots shall take second place.

In the same manner Nott was given the prize for the greatest number of bull-eyes because, though he and Schwegler both had 14, his were better.

Bronze medals were given for the first three in the individuals. In the team match between the club team and a team composed of the company's stunts, Nott and Schwegler won with a total of 519 points against the guardsmen's 503.

The losing team paid for one of Mulligan's famous chicken dinners. As a result of yesterday's match, it is expected that within the near future a team of five men will shoot against Milton and other nearby places which have good teams. The rifle club is backed by the war department in an endeavor to train expert shots using army guns.

A vote of thanks was given the business men of the city, who helped make this first match a success.

ILLINI HOLDS FIRST IN BIG TEN FINALS

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Final ranking of the teams in the western conference football race gives Illinois, triumphant over Ohio State in the spectacular 9 to 7 game on Saturday, undisputed claim to the 1919 gridiron championship of the "big ten."

The scrappy Illinois eleven victorious in six of its seven games finished the season with a percentage of 85; while Ohio piled up in second place with a percentage of 75. The Ohioans bagged three out of four games, losing its contest to Illinois. The Buckeyes scored victories over Purdue, Michigan and Wisconsin, while Illinois emerged victorious in its games with Purdue, Iowa, Minnesota, Chicago, Michigan and Ohio, suffering defeat at the hands of Wisconsin earlier in the season.

The final games marked the passing of some brilliant stars. Chick Harley, all-American halfback, played his last contest for Ohio. Chicago lost seven men. They are Capt. Higgins, Graham, Hutchinson, Hinkle, McDonald and Stegeman. Meyers, Capt. Carney and Fred Fisher finished their intercollegiate careers at Wisconsin.

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—Ames university took first place Saturday in the annual Western conference cross-country run, held at Ohio State university prior to the Ohio State-Indiana football game. Ames had a total of 38 points. The other teams finished as follows: Wisconsin, second; Purdue, third; Minnesota, fourth; Ohio State, fifth; Michigan, sixth; Illinois, seventh; Chicago, eighth; Oberlin, ninth, and Cincinnati, tenth.

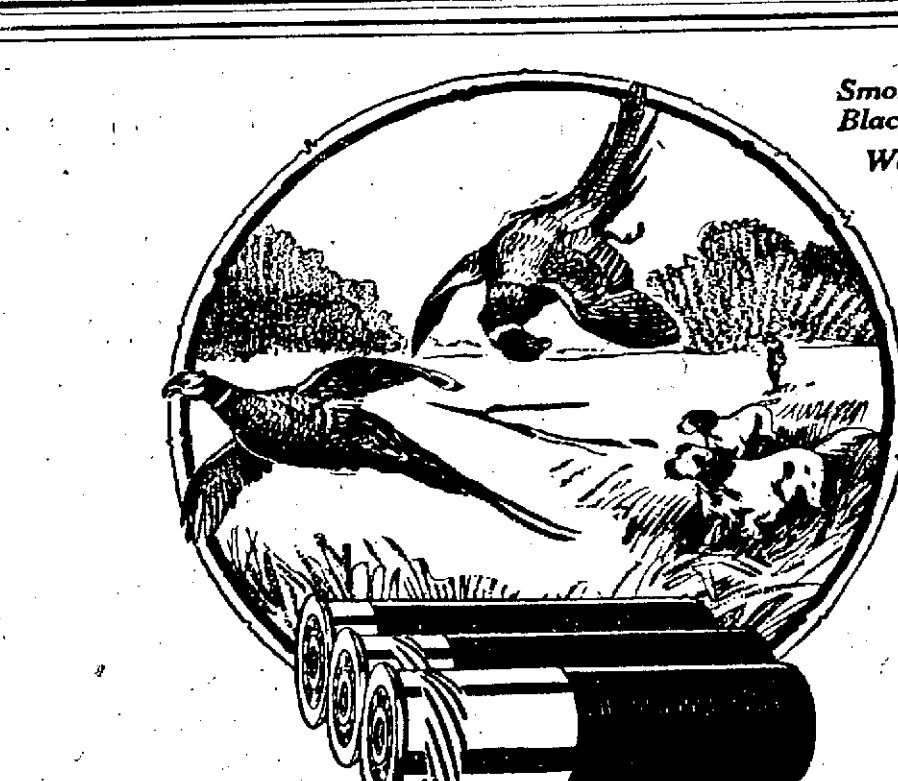

G. L. Otis, Chicago, finished first in the five mile run in 27 minutes 4.1-5 seconds. G. C. Farnas of Purdue, was second, and H. P. and W. E. Frevort of Ames, third and fourth.
